Passionate filmmaker, over 1000 hours underwater filming sharks and marine life

With a background in graphic design, I have an artistic flare and an eye for detail, composition and colour. Over the past few years, I have gained invaluable field experience working with a range of camera systems in locations all over the world. As a result, I have developed a specialised interest in sharks, marine wildlife and ecosystems. I pride myself on being flexible and adaptable to work with colleagues from different cultures in order to complete shared goals. Having the opportunity to combine my creativity and technical skills with an appreciation and understanding of nature gives me an immense sense of satisfaction.

I relish the opportunity to take on new challenges and learn more about all wildlife. I am looking to build on my production experience and develop crucial story-telling skills in the pursuit of producing captivating film-making of the natural world.

FIELD EXPERIENCE & ACHIEVEMENTS

- 2017 SEEKING SANCTUARY - My first self-produced short film and final MA Wildlife Filmmaking project (Click here)
- 2016 WISE OCEANS - Red cameraman & motion graphics for Wise Oceans coral reef restoration project. (Click here)
- 2015 BULL SHARK PROJECT - Diver representative on research trip to Shark Reef Marine Reserve in Fiji to gain knowledge of Bull Shark behaviour and best diving interaction practices. Responsible for collating information into a report and ensuring the implementation of this information among the local dive team in Seychelles.
- GREY REEF SHARK MONITORING - Working alongside scientists to locate and tag sharks. Installing receivers to collect data on numbers and frequency of Grey Reef Shark populations of Seychelles.
- 2014 GREAT WHITE GHOST - Travel Photo Of The Year Finalist, Wanderlust Magazine. (Click here)
- 2013 COMMONWEALTH GAMES - Co-ordinating with the British High Commissioner and BBC film crew, I served as the local-expert and camera operator responsible for dive planning and capturing the first ever underwater footage of The Queen's Baton Relay through Seychelles. Featured on BBC News and a sequence in episode 5, showcasing the athletes and communities of the Commonwealth countries. (Click here)
- SAVE OUR SEAS FOUNDATION, ISLAND SCHOOL - Marine education initiative to create a new generation of environmental ambassadors from local schools in Seychelles. I was responsible for running the photography workshop over two weeks, teaching students the basics of underwater photography. I designed a summarised hand-out, supervised snorkelling trips for students to use equipment and instructed them on how to make the most of their images using computer software.
- 2012 WILDSCREEN FESTIVAL - Volunteer. Welcoming delegates, set-up of A/V & lighting for talks and workshops.
